

ANNUAL NO FEAR ACT NOTICE

On May 15, 2002, Congress enacted the Notification and Federal Employee Antidiscrimination and Retaliation Act of 2002 (Public Law 107-174) (No FEAR Act or Act). The Act requires Federal agency accountability for violations of antidiscrimination and whistleblower protection laws and states that agencies cannot run effectively if they practice or tolerate discrimination. Congress enacted the Elijah E. Cummings Federal Employee Antidiscrimination Act of 2020<sup>1</sup> to amend the No FEAR Act. This Act increases federal agencies' accountability by requiring the following:

- Establishment of an Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) complaint tracking system;
- Notification in personnel records of any adverse action for acts of discrimination;
- Fair and impartial processing and resolution of EEO complaints;
- Establishment of a model EEO program that is not under the control of the Human Resources Office or Office of General Counsel;
- That the head of the EEO program reports directly to the Agency Head; and
- Referral by EEOC to the Office of Special Counsel (OSC) of findings of discrimination.

This document provides notice to Federal Housing Finance Agency (FHFA) employees, former employees, and applicants for employment of the right to a workplace that is free from discrimination, harassment, retaliation, and prohibited personnel practices, including reprisal for whistleblowing activities.

Please read this notice in its entirety and follow the links provided below for additional information. If you have any questions about this notice, you may contact the Office of Equal Employment Opportunity (OEEO) by email at EEO@fhfa.gov.

Antidiscrimination Laws

A Federal agency may not discriminate against an employee, former employee, or applicant with respect to the terms, conditions, or privileges of employment on the basis of race, color, religion, sex (including all bases of sex discrimination recognized by Federal law), national origin, age, disability, genetic information, marital status, or political affiliation. Discrimination on these bases is prohibited by one or more of the following statutes: 5 U.S.C. §2302\(b\)\(1\), 29 U.S.C. §206\(d\), 29 U.S.C. §631, 29 U.S.C. §633a, 29 U.S.C. §791, 42 U.S.C. §2000e-16, and 42 U.S.C. §2000ff.

If you believe that you have been subjected to unlawful discrimination, you must contact an EEO counselor within 45 calendar days of the alleged discriminatory action or within 45 calendar days of becoming aware of the alleged discriminatory event or action in order to preserve your EEO complaint rights. In the case of an alleged discriminatory personnel action, you must contact an EEO counselor within 45 calendar days of the effective date of the action.<sup>2</sup> For claims of constructive discharge, the 45-day limitations period begins on the employee's official date of departure from an agency.

If you believe that you have been subjected to unlawful discrimination on the basis of age (40 years of age and older) in violation of the Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967 (ADEA), you must either contact an EEO counselor within 45 calendar days of the alleged discriminatory action or personnel action, or give notice of intent to file a lawsuit in Federal Court to EEOC within 180 days of the alleged discriminatory action.

If you believe you were subjected to discrimination based on marital status or political affiliation, you may file a complaint with the OSC. You may also seek assistance from OSC if you believe you have been subjected to a prohibited personnel practice based on sex discrimination, as recognized by Federal law.<sup>3</sup>

For more information on EEO counseling, please contact EEO@fhfa.gov. Individuals may file an EEO complaint of harassment with the EEO Counselor and simultaneously may report claims of harassment through FHFA's Harassment Prevention Program (HPP) in the Office of General Counsel (OGC).

The Office of Equal Employment Opportunity will process an EEO matter apart from the internal FHFA Anti-Harassment process as allegations may be addressed in both forums simultaneously. If employees initially contact the HPP within OGC, they must also make timely contact with the EEO program if they wish to pursue an EEO complaint of discrimination.

To report harassment, contact the Harassment Prevention Hotline at (202) 649-3804 or by email at HarassmentPrevention@fhfa.gov. To participate in the EEO complaint process, contact EEO@fhfa.gov.

Whistleblower Protection Laws

A Federal employee with authority to take, direct others to take, recommend, or approve any personnel action must not take or fail to take, or threaten to take or fail to take, a personnel action against an employee or applicant because of a disclosure of information that the employee or applicant reasonably believes is a violation of law, rule, or regulation; gross mismanagement; gross waste of funds; an abuse of authority; or a substantial and specific danger to public health or safety, unless disclosure of such information is specifically prohibited by law or regulation and such information is required by Executive Order to be kept secret in the interest of national defense or the conduct of foreign affairs.<sup>4</sup>

<sup>2</sup> The procedures regarding the EEO complaint process appear at 29 C.F.R. §1614. You can find more information at www.eeoc.gov.

Disclosure by an employee or applicant for employment of information that the employee or applicant reasonably believes is evidence of censorship related to research, analysis, or technical information is also within the protection of the Whistleblower Protection Enhancement Act of 2012. As with all protected disclosures, the employee or applicant must reasonably believe that such censorship is an actual or potential violation of law, rule, or regulation; gross mismanagement; a gross waste of funds; an abuse of authority; or a substantial and specific danger to public health or safety.

Retaliation for Engaging in Protected Activity

Federal agencies may not retaliate against an employee, former employee, or applicant because that individual exercised his or her rights under any of the Federal antidiscrimination or whistleblower protection laws. Each of the EEO laws prohibits retaliation, so if you believe that you have been retaliated against and wish to pursue a legal remedy, you must follow, as appropriate, the procedures described in the antidiscrimination and whistleblower protection laws.

Retaliation against an employee or applicant for making a protected disclosure is prohibited by 5 U.S.C. § 2302\(b\)\(8\). If you believe that you have been the subject of whistleblower retaliation, you may file a complaint with OSC. You may also report allegations of whistleblower retaliation to the FHFA Office of Inspector General (OIG) at <http://www.fhfaig.gov/ReportFraud> or through the OIG Hotline at 1-800-793-7724.

In certain instances, an employee who has experienced retaliation because of protected communication may also file an appeal directly with the Merit Systems Protection Board \(MSPB\).

Disciplinary Actions

Under the existing laws, each agency retains the right, where appropriate, to discipline a Federal employee who has engaged in discriminatory or retaliatory conduct, up to and including removal. However, if OSC has initiated an investigation under 5 U.S.C. §1214, agencies must seek approval from the Special Counsel to discipline employees for, among other activities, engaging in prohibited retaliation. 5 U.S.C. §1214\(f\). Nothing in the No FEAR Act alters existing laws or permits an agency to take unfounded disciplinary action against a Federal
