

Federal Housing Finance Agency

Paul Priest – Associate Director
Office of Minority and Women Inclusion

Paul Priest is the Associate Director for Diversity and Inclusion and Administration in the Office of Minority and Women Inclusion (OMWI) at the Federal Housing Finance Agency (FHFA). As the Associate Director, Priest is responsible for designing, implementing, managing and overseeing the nation's first diversity and inclusion (D&I) examination program. Priest leverages relationships internally at FHFA and establishes partnerships externally with contractors, FHFA's regulated entities, diverse broker-dealers, colleges/universities, and other professional organizations to develop a program that is practical, sustainable and contributes to the integration of diversity and inclusion in the financial services industry.

Prior to working in OMWI, Priest served as a senior examiner and subject matter expert responsible for reviewing and assessing Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac's Information Technology (IT) and operational risk management practices, including governance, internal controls, cybersecurity and the implementation of major IT systems and applications.

Priest who has an MBA also received a Diversity and Inclusion Professional certificate from Cornell University ILR School.